Sunway University Launches Board Game to Celebrate the 5th Anniversary of the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals

To commemorate the 5th Anniversary of the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), Sunway University released a board game “Are You the Master of Sustainability?”

This multiplayer board game aims to become a vehicle to mainstream education for sustainable development as mandated by SDG 4: Quality Education Target 7 “to ensure that all learners acquire the knowledge and skills needed to promote sustainable development.” The game highlights key societal issues – water security, land degradation, plastic pollution, greenhouse gases, gender inequality. Players are exposed to a range of issues through a simple gameplay mechanism which encourages learners to transition from local to global perspectives... >

ACCELERATING EDUCATION FOR THE SDGs IN UNIVERSITIES

A GUIDE FOR UNIVERSITIES, COLLEGES, AND TERTIARY AND HIGHER EDUCATION INSTITUTIONS

Featured in UN Guide on Accelerating Education for the SDGs: Sunway University Case Study

Sunway University is a case study featured in an internationally released guide on Accelerating Education for the SDGs launched on 21st September 2020 by the Sustainable Development Solutions Network, which operates under the auspices of the United Nations Secretary-General.

“It is very easy to say what universities should do about education for sustainable development, but the actual reality of what this looks like is a lot more complex,” says Tahl Kestin, one of the guide’s authors during the launch. This guide is organised in a user-friendly manner to inspire, empower and mobilise universities and higher education institutions across the globe to provide students with the necessary knowledge, training, and skills to contribute solutions to the world’s pressing issues in light of the 2030 Agenda deadline... >
